

General Manager - Housing and Built Form

Satterley Property Group is Australia's leading private property development company. Our core business is land development and creating truly inspiring communities across Australia. We have an outstanding reputation because we are genuinely passionate about creating engaged and sustainable residential neighbourhoods. We believe that energetic, focused and professional people are essential in bringing this vision to life.

We are seeking to recruit an experienced professional to join our growing, vibrant and dynamic team in the role of General Manager – Housing and Built Form.

In this highly autonomous role, you will be part of our Executive Management team and work across the business with regular liaison with our COO, CEO and key staff within the business. With a key focus on WA, the role is also responsible for expanding opportunities in Victoria and Queensland.

Key objectives will include:

- Develop and lead built form business opportunities
- Feasibility and business case analysis
- Lead and manage the delivery and commercial performance of all built form programs including urban renewal and housing projects

To be successful in this role you will have held a senior role in the building or development industry and have a comprehensive knowledge of housing construction. You will have experience in construction, estimating, design, supply and contract negotiations and financial analysis. You will also have a demonstrated track record in business development and managing teams along with strong communication skills.

If you are ready to join our expanding and active team of property professionals please email your application, addressing the selection criteria, to people@satterley.com.au by Friday 21 May 2010.
